AFTERNOON TALK - YOU ARE WHAT YOU EAT?

Food and identity in the Roman and modern world- with Zena Kamash. An open forum led by Zena Kamash to discuss how identities are created by food. The workshop will start by looking at how the different groups of people represented in the museum (military personnel; city dwellers; rural inhabitants) used food and drink in the Roman period. Participants are encouraged to share their own food experiences, bringing, if they wish, some food that they feel speaks about who they are. £6 per adult £5 for season ticket holders Booking essential

EVENING LECTURE - NOT JUST DORMICE THE ARCHAEOLOGY OF ROMAN FOOD

With Zena Kamash Thursday 25 June 7-8.30pm In this lecture, Dr Zena Kamash will dispel some of the common myths about Roman food and explore what everyday Romans ate in Britain and beyond. Using different kinds of evidence we have about Roman food from actual food remains to the objects used to prepare and serve food to how food was represented in art, she will demonstrate how archaeologists can use these to develop a fuller picture of eating and drinking in the Roman world. Dr Zena Kamash is the Lecturer in Roman Archaeology and Art at Royal Holloway, University of London. She has worked on projects across the Roman world in Britain, the Middle East, North Africa and Italy. Her research interests are in religion, ancient technology, and, of course, food. £6 per adult £5 for season ticket holders Booking essential

RURAL CINEMA - SELMA

Selma is the story of a movement. The film chronicles the tumultuous three-month period in 1965, when Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. led a dangerous campaign to secure equal voting rights in the face of violent opposition. The epic march from Selma to Montgomery culminated in President Johnson (Tom Wilkinson) signing the Voting Rights Act of 1965, one of the most significant victories for the civil rights movement. Director Ava DuVernay's SELMA tells the real story of how the revered leader and visionary Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. (David Oyelowo) and his brothers and sisters in the movement prompted change that forever altered history.

- 2nd and 4th Saturdays of each month CIRENCESTER FARMERS' MARKET
Since September 1999, when twenty nervous stallholders manned their pitches on the edge of the (now vanished) cattle market, Cirencester has been lucky to have a regular farmers' market, Cirencester's Market Place.

- Every Tuesday MORETON-IN-MARSH RETAIL MARKET
A nationally famous and internationally acclaimed traditional town centre market, situated in main boulevard of the picturesque Cotswold town of Moreton-in-Marsh – said by many to be most stunning market location in England. The market itself is a modern event, established by us since 1976 by virtue of market charter granted in 1629, and benefits from very busy local trade, as well as being a first choice destination for coach tours and shopping days out all year round.
